Developed by Researchers For Researchers

Research is intellectually stimulating, strategically important and beneficial to patient care.

But it also has to be economically sustainable.

The research group at the St. Paul Heart Clinic understood the need for a simple-to-use software solution to help overworked research teams. They asked the technical team at The MACRO GROUP, Inc. to build a system that would work for them and other sites that share their passion for research.

IntelliTRIAL™ gives sites the productivity boost they need to reach all of their research goals. It works like an automated office assistant that frees up the time your team spends on paperwork, making it easier for you to meet compliance and regulatory requirements.

“As a consultant for clinical research sites to help improve efficiency, I have evaluated several major research software systems. I found that IntelliTRIAL™ is superior to all others in terms of ease of use and powerful productivity.”

- Jim Simmer, RN, MBA

Negotiate a Win-Win Contract With Sponsors

No one wins when sites lose money conducting research. Our cost analysis wizard gives you an easy, repeatable method to help predict your costs, and collaborate with study sponsors to make sure you receive fair market value for all of the work you do before, during and after a study.

Collect the Money That is Owed to You

Making sure that you have been accurately paid for work completed is critically important to your research program. Our invoicing feature is so easy to use that with five simple clicks you can generate invoices for every completed visit/procedure. IntelliTRIAL™ tracks every payment due according to contract terms and verifies the accuracy of checks you receive.

Overcome Compliance Anxiety

Once you set up compliance and billing codes for visit procedures, IntelliTRIAL™ will automatically notify the billing office when a visit is completed. By providing this check and balance, we make it easier for you to meet regulations and audit requirements.

Manage the Workload

IntelliTRIAL™ manages visit windows, trial tasks and regulatory reporting for you. Adverse events and deviations can be tracked in the system and reported. Our unique “My Workspace” feature reminds you of upcoming tasks and their due dates.

Know Your Bottom Line

65% of the researchers we surveyed cannot determine their current financial position. IntelliTRIAL™ provides more than twenty financial reports to help measure the current, past and future financial state of your research program. Most reports can be exported to MS-EXCEL for additional customization and manipulation to help you keep your bottom line healthy.
